

And the winners are....

Contributed by Kari Carr
Monday, 23 November 2009

Well, I wish I could tell you who the winners of the blog hop are, but we are still trying to find qualified winners. We have a surprise for you that I think know you will like. Make sure to check back.

I do need to find a winner for the Winter Blooms pattern and Clearly Perfect Angles! I never heard from the first name drawn, so as I said in an earlier post I would draw another name. At least I can tell you one winner. That person is:

Pat, from the blog "A Little of This and a Little of Pat"

Please email me with shipping info.

kari@newleafstitches.com